Gilda Corso Chosen Queen Of SU In New Popularity Contest

"MISS SUFFOLK" AND COURT

The 1950 Miss Suffolk is Gilda Corso of Arlington (center). She was chosen by popular vote of the students on February 23 and 24. Her court includes (l. to r. standing) Juanita Swingler, Roxbury; Frances Balukonis, Dorchester; Zelma Goldberg, Roxbury; Billie Glickstein, Roxbury; and Betty Jackson, Waltham. (Kneeling, front) Shirley Bagdoian, Lawrence; Barbara Savini, Stoughton; Queen Gilda Corso; Alice Wittlin, Lawrence; and Lucille Kane, Marlboro.

Entire Cast Putting Heart And Soul Into "Hasty Heart"

The Hasty Heart by John Patrick, the next production of the Dramatic Workshop which will be produced March 25-26, is the kind of play "you can get your teeth into," said Mr. George Kiroin, the other day in his office. "We have been doing 'situation comedy' for so long," he went on, "that we were afraid that we were getting into a rut. Comedy is a fine thing; it takes no little skill to make an audience laugh. But it gives the strong impression for any group really serious about the theatre when they do nothing but comedy."

There are fine plays, which, less it is for gain. But that isn't while they are not tragic, are yet true as they know, but it is comforting to write that they probe into the life of the human family, and show people what makes them. The Dramatic Workshop has undertaken the production of "The Hasty Heart" with great courage. It is a difficult play to see, just right. Each line needs careful interpretation and then exhaustive rehearsal to make certain that its right effect is achieved.

Behaviors are periods of life. The story of "The Hasty Heart" is one which warns the audience at the sight of a man's struggle to resist the feeling of brotherly love which he finds when he least expects it. It is perhaps appropriate that a play based on the fundamental decency of mankind should follow so soon after Brotherhood Week.

Lachlan, the dear Scot, spends his last few days on earth in a group of people who have no single nationality or color in common and finds that they have more in common who entered Suffolk rings will be able to pick them up some time and friendship than he about the middle of the month had ever believed existed. Until Robert Sampson, chairman of the committee, stated that the actual time and place of distribution will be made public very shortly.

Problem Finally Solved — ONE SU Yearbook

At a joint meeting with representatives of both the Law School and University yearbook committees, President Hahn announced that the Board of Trustees of Suffolk made a provision to help in the making of a combined yearbook. With separate sections for Law School and University. At first the Law School opposed this proposal, but after another meeting with the Law School, it was announced that the Law School was clear to go ahead with the combined yearbook.

Robert Devlin, Editor-in-Chief of the forthcoming University yearbook, "The Beacon," has announced that a combined yearbook will be published. It will be made shortly as to the time and place for the taking of graduation pictures.

Devlin also spoke of the need for a combined yearbook for subscriptions to help finance the project. Underclassmen are reminded that they may subscribe to the forthcoming publication.

Jack Mahon has been named as Editor of the Law School yearbook, "The Beacon."

MOVING REPORTER ASKS:

"Should There Be Closer Relations Between Student, Faculty, and Administration?"

By JOHN J. McDONOUGH

George Levine, Pres. of Suffolk University.

They are close enough already. The student council exists to represent the students. If the student has a problem he should bring it to his class representative, who in turn will consolidate the problem where possible and see the proper school authority, if necessary.

Dean Munce: "Yes, a spirit of cooperation must be present in the classroom between the students and the faculty to make the best use of the time. The student should be free to learn. While by having the ultimate understanding of each other can be produced, the student is developed to himself. Our aim should be to build up closer cooperation between the Faculty, Students, Administration, and the University. Faculty Administration confidence in each other will also be greater success to all."

Joseph Strain, English Dept. "I believe that the relationship between students, faculty, and Administration is closer than at any time in the last twelve years. It is as close as it can be in a college where most of the students spend their spare time working. More frequent meetings might help us become better acquainted."

Edgar L. DeFaret, Student Affairs.

"Of course there should be closer relations between student and faculty, and with the administration of this means better relations for the most part, I think the students will agree that Suffolk is a friendly place, but there are problems."

Chess Club Latest Student Activity

The Suffolk University Chess Club has recently moved Suffolk. The club is already in the Greater Boston Intercollegiate Chess League. It is already in the Greater Boston Intercollegiate Chess League and all intercollegiate chess will be played at Suffolk.

Temporary officers are: G. A. C. Hines, president; Robert F. Hines, vice-president; Gordon F. Hines, secretary; and Mike L. Hines, treasurer. Permanent officers will be elected at the next meeting.

There are now 25 members in the Chess Club but President Hines announced that membership is

Editorials

NOW IS THE HOUR

The Yearbook problem has been solved through the cooperation of the Law School and the University. This settlement should not be looked on as a victory to one side, but as a show of unequalled school spirit. From the news at hand it now seems as if the BEACON and the LEX will be published with the combined efforts of both schools, with Bob Devin as Editor for the University and Jack Malone, editor of the "LEX" section.

The Law School, after hearing the situation from Dean Simpson, voted to support ONE yearbook which will include both schools.

With such effort being put forth by both schools, it should also receive the backing of all the students. The graduation class of 1952 must back this project up with a 100% school spirit.

Let's all get back to this effort, and make the '50 BEACON-LEX' the best yet.

CHAPLAIN, PLEASE

The JOURNAL has pleaded more than ever this year for more student cooperation with this paper. We knew we could put out a better paper if we had more help. Begging didn't help. We even tried offering money to students who would bring in advertising. Money didn't help. We made promises of practical experience that every student should and could take advantage of. Promises didn't help. We made offers of editorships for positions opened next year. Editorships didn't help. We've approached Deans, Professors, Doctors, Assistant Professors, and student teachers. They couldn't help. We've asked advertising students. They didn't help.

We now address an open letter to the Chaplain.
Dear Chaplain:
HELP!!!

(Signed) JOURNAL EDITORS

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

The editors of the JOURNAL have received many letters during the past few months for the "Letters to the Editor" column. These letters were unsigned and therefore could not be used. All letters to this column must have the sender's signature, as a sign of good faith. The name will be withheld on request. Just address the letter to "Letter Editor, Room 40, Journal, and leave at the switchboard, our mail box in the faculty room, or send to us through the mail."

NEW COUNCIL

The Student Council of 1949-1950 is a welcome sight. Councils of the past have been mere figure heads to be tolerated, but not to dictate. Under the able leadership of Phil Sullivan, this Council has undertaken and accomplished more than any other single organization in the school. They have also handled the production of two big shows, the Variety Show, and the recent Miss Suffolk Contest.

Now the Student Council wants to ask all the students for a favor. This school is in a precarious position. We are on the brink of accreditation. Nothing can keep us from getting there. But the way we act can speed it up, or slow it down. We all want to help. And that's the favor the Council wants from all of us. If we have a gripe, bring it to them, that's their job. Don't start whispering campaigns, direct or indirect, unwarranted petitions, and let's not criticize without having some constructive ideas.

What we do and say now can affect the entire future of this school. Let's all help out.

INSIDE S. U.

By PAUL THORNTON

Greetings from Inside S. U. Well, we start this issue on a happier note than has been our custom of late. Everything seems to be running along smoothly and the spirit at S. U. is at its highest. With a continuance of the cooperation that has been displayed during the past month, S. U. can't help but become one of New England's outstanding Universities.

WE HAVE THE QUEEN DEPT.—"We've watched them come and we've watched them go, more more deservingly than this year's Queens." The choice of Gilda Gurus for S. U.'s annual queen met with the unanimous approval of the student body. Gilda, yours is the singular distinction of being chosen on a basis of popularity as well as beauty.

THE SHOWN GOES ON DEPT. President Hulse suggested a King for S. U. If we voted for one immediately after the assembly. I am sure that another institution where would have been made King (LARRY). If the crown fits, wear it. Ham and eggs, pork and beans, Rodgers and Hammerstein, Charley and Annie. (Famous combinations.)

THE QUEEN PICKS A KING DEPT.—"You shoulda won it last year." (Gahha)

OLD SHOES AND RICE DEPT. Bob Taylor is in step with his former law instructor, Lorraine DeLoach, wedding bells will follow graduation. Even Gilda of the law school has set an example as the date that he will merge with Sharon Gray of Brooklyn.

THE ALUMN FOLLOWS SITH DEPT. Carl A. Bosley, Senior, graduate of S. U., has made it known that he is interested in a certain Barbara Higgins of the same town. Barbara is going to be a welcome addition to S. U.'s growing list of Registered Nurses. Captain Charles Kelley carried off the loose's daughter last month in a wedding held at Wright Patterson Air Base, Dayton, Ohio, when he was united with Mary Grant, daughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Larson McKee Grant, Merrill Albert, Roxbury, will join with Dorothy H. Kraemer sometime in the near future.

WORTH REPEATING DEPT. Dean Munce recently commented to your Editor on fingernail cuts. He said "A fingernail cut is a picture, the world is not the subject and too large to fill the picture."

MISUNDERSTANDING CAN HURT DEPT. Larry O'Donnell, President of the Senior Law School class, has been made the butt of many remarks from both Law School and University students, because of the stand he took on the Year Book issue. An explanation would be too long and tedious to print here, but believe me, Larry was very influential in bringing about the present annual Year Book situation.

A United University is a Great University.

LEGALLY SPEAKING

By JACK MALONE

The senior class, through its duly elected officers, has announced its decision that it will not support the BEACON-LEX yearbook. The decision was made after a long and heated discussion of the committee. The decision was made by the senior class because of the desire for other legitimate means, with a copy of the notes from the lecture, they have a word.

A vote of a senior class meeting determined that a senior class function should be held, and a committee composed of Ed Luning, Bud Barrett, and Frank Cain was appointed to investigate the type of function that would be most feasible.

Another appointee was Jerome Baird, Chairman of the Rules Committee.

Steadily the wheel of progress turned as the Suffolk Club grew from its inception as a mere idea to a new active, and organized organization. The latest step in the construction of a sound foundation for this group was the election of the officers of the organization. Following the dictates of the constitution and by-laws, a primary reduced the number of candidates for the executive offices to two for each office. The results of the balloting: President, Jack Malone; Vice-President, Jerome Baird; Secretary, John Lincoln; Treasurer, Michael Safford.

The five members of the Executive Council were elected without a primary, although a vote-off was scheduled for the following week because of a no vote. The successful candidates were: Jerome Baird, Michael Safford, John Pina, Joseph Hegarty, and John Belmont. Immediately following the election the president appointed Andrew Parisi to the office of Auditor.

Once again the Wig and Bow Society has embarked on a seasonal program of gastric proportions. One of the members of the past year has been the Society should double again in size and prestige.

Chris Parisi, Chairman of the Membership Committee, announced that in addition to the new members already added, the organization for this year will conduct a gas taken under consideration a large number of applications which are being acted upon as quickly as possible.

In view of the fact that the Society is cramped for space in its present location, hence the building Committee has been more active for the purchase of new quarters. The present plans contemplate the taking of students' gas inexpensive rates in that part of the new premises which will be available as a dormitory.

CLUB CHAPLAIN TALKS ON EUTHENASIA

In one of the most timely talks ever given at Suffolk, the Reverend Father Peterson, C.S.P., chairman of the Suffolk Newman Club and Pastor of St. Anne's Parish in Boston, spoke before a large group on the subject of mercy killing.

As one of the most outstanding professors of Canon Law and Canon Theology, Father Peterson stressed the fact that "We are not free to settle the New Hampshire case, that is for the courts, and they must judge better than the same way. If a mother is in danger, medical action can be taken, he explained."

He said, "It is not a direct aggression against the child."

The cry of "Mercy or Dignity" Father Peterson then went on to say that "It is the most practical of all our professions and that the only way to take a life is to take it by an aggressive force."

Father Peterson then explained man's duty to the state and his duty to the church and his duty to the family.

He said, "A woman who is in danger of a woman's life, if she is in danger, medical action can be taken, he explained."
